1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-7 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-7 of U.S. Patent No. 6,426,482. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claims of the instant differ from those of previously issued US Patent -482 only in that the instant recite the additional steps of putting uncured rubber into the mold, curing the rubber and removing the cured tire from the mold. These steps are seen to have been an obvious addendum to the process claimed in US Patent -482 to make a molded tire, such seen to have been particularly obvious since the preamble of claim 1 of US Patent -482 calls for making a mold "to cure a tire with a continuous tread pattern" and the body of the claim recites that the inserts form the continuous tread pattern. There was no restriction made in the parent case.

2. Applicant is requested to provide a reference to the copending application 09/596,004, now US Patent 6,426,482 at the beginning of the specification or provide same in an Application Data Sheet. See 37 CFR 1.78.
